

BlackLine Announces Co-CEO Transition and New Lead Independent Director

Therese Tucker to transition from her role as Co-CEO and focus on her role as Founder.

Owen Ryan will serve as CEO of BlackLine.

David Henshall to serve as Lead Independent Director.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 05, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- BlackLine, Inc. (Nasdaq: BL) ("BlackLine" or the "Company"), the future-ready platform for the Office of the CFO, today announced that Therese Tucker, Co-CEO and Founder of BlackLine, will transition from her role as Co-CEO effective October 1, 2025. As of that date Tucker will serve as Founder, while Owen Ryan, Co-CEO and Chairman of BlackLine, will continue as CEO of the Company.

In the Founder role, Tucker will continue as a member of BlackLine's executive team and will be actively engaged in the market, supporting and guiding the Company's largest customers as they navigate their transformation journeys. Her role will also involve a substantial presence in our European markets. She will continue to contribute her extensive experience to the Company's product development process. Tucker is a significant BlackLine shareholder and will continue to serve as a member of the Board of Directors. As part of this planned transition, Jeremy Ung, BlackLine's Chief Technology Officer, will lead the Product and Technology organization as well as BlackLine's India operations.

"When Owen and I became co-CEOs in March 2023, my commitment was to build upon BlackLine's strong foundation and elevate it into a leading platform that serves the Office of the CFO," Tucker stated. "With our refreshed strategy, rapidly improving execution led by our dynamic new leadership team, and a reignited innovation engine, this is the right time for my transition to Founder."

"This transition is a pivotal moment for BlackLine's evolution. Therese's vision not only created BlackLine but shaped our entire industry," said Ryan. "It has been a privilege to serve with her as Co-CEO, and as I continue to lead BlackLine as CEO, I look forward to the Company continuing to benefit from her wisdom and experience."

BlackLine is also pleased to announce that the Board of Directors has named David Henshall as Lead Independent Director, replacing Tom Unterman, who has served on the Board since 2010 and as Lead Independent Director since 2023. Unterman will continue to serve on the Board of Directors and as a member of the Board's Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee and Compensation Committee.

"The recent strategic enhancements to our Board, notably the additions of Sam Balaji and Greg Hughes - both former CEOs of diverse, global enterprises - and David's appointment as Lead Independent Director, are part of our Board's vision to support the company's long-term strategy," said Ryan.
