Modern Accounting Playbook (MAP) From BlackLine Brings Midmarket Customers A Streamlined And Stress-Free Financial Close

Company also offers complimentary MAP implementation for a limited time to help reduce burden on midsize companies that may be resource-constrained during these uncertain times

LOS ANGELES, April 2, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- BlackLine, Inc. (Nasdaq: BL) today announced the broad launch of its ‘Modern Accounting Playbook’ (MAP), a solution package based on leading practices to help midmarket companies get up and running quickly on BlackLine’s market-leading accounting automation platform and guide them through a proven process to achieve a stress-free financial close. The company also announced it will offer complimentary MAP implementation services until June 30, 2020 for a limited number of midsize organizations to help reduce their financial burden and close with confidence in this difficult economic environment.

BlackLine MAP makes the move to modern accounting achievable for midsize companies by helping them realize the greatest value in the shortest amount of time. By applying a combination of native cloud technology, a vast library of pre-configured best-practices templates, and a highly optimized delivery model, BlackLine MAP can drastically reduce implementation times and accelerate time-to-value.

“Our BlackLine implementation was very straightforward,” said Jade Lee, director of corporate accounting at HashiCorp, a multi-cloud infrastructure automation software company ranked No. 4 on the 2019 Forbes Cloud 100 list. “I’ve been implementing systems for many years, and this was one of the most organized and smooth-running implementations I’ve ever experienced.”

BlackLine MAP is a repeatable, packaged process complete with all the knowledge and leading practices needed around ERP integration, data extraction, close checklists, ready-to-go reconciliation templates, close task tracking, reports, dashboards, approval flows and more.

“We’ve created a curated playbook for rapid success, based not only on our own experience working with so many market-leading companies, but also on our own growth path from boot-strapped business to Nasdaq-listed entity,” said Marc Huffman, BlackLine’s president and COO. “With MAP, we’re providing a guided process that shaves time off the close, slashing workloads and bolstering financial statement integrity, quickly.”

Despite uncertainty facing many of today’s organizations, one thing remains certain—businesses still rely on Finance & Accounting (F&A) to deliver an accurate picture of financial health. F&A is now also tasked with adjusting to a distributed workforce. BlackLine MAP can help on both these fronts by guiding teams to achieve a collaborative and continuous close from wherever they’re working, without sacrificing productivity in their F&A departments.

After following BlackLine’s leading practices approach and getting up and running, companies will be well poised to further modernize their F&A function. As their business evolves, they won’t have to ‘rip and replace’ to a new solution. BlackLine will grow with them.

“After MAP’s core foundation is in place, we guide the customer on how to approach each growth milestone they may encounter,” added Mr. Huffman. “So when a customer needs to automate more accounting processes as business volume and complexity increases or tackle more advanced needs to prepare for significant milestones like an IPO, acquisition or venture-capital round, there’s never a gap from demand to delivery.”

As the cloud financial close market leader, BlackLine has helped thousands of companies solve business challenges and scale for growth. Many leading midsize companies and organizations including the American Medical Association, Clif Bar, HashiCorp, Impossible Foods, the Institute of Internal Auditors, Philz Coffee, Postmates and Travelzoo are already realizing the benefits of using BlackLine to automate and modernize processes in F&A – closing faster with more accurate results.
